Genoa is one of most fascinating Italian cities, world famous as the birth place of Christopher Columbus. Dubbed 'La Superba' by Petrarca, Genoa was one of Italy's two largest maritime republics (together with Venice) that enjoyed enormous power and prestige as early as the Middle Ages. Multi-faceted and in perpetual mutation, the city ranges from the most luxurious aristocratic palaces in the Strade Nuove district to the Kasbah-like, narrow streets in the historic center. It is also a good starting-point for a tour of the Italian Riviera, including the villages of the Cinque Terre and Portofino. So welcome to Genoa! We wish you a good stay in this wonderful place.

HOTEL NH COLLECTION GENOVA MARINA ****

Molo Ponte Calvi 5, Genoa, Italy

The NH Collection Genova Marina hotel is part of Genoa's Old Port area, which was developed by world-famous architect Renzo Piano. It sits on specially-designed 'stilts', steps from the impressive Aquarium and Sea Museum (the largest aquarium in Europe) and only a 10-minute walk from the historic city center.
